A little word about me and what I do:

I am the President of Turtle Island Consulting Services Inc. located in Victoria, British Columbia. Specifically, I provide management consulting services to Aboriginal, non-Aboriginal, not-for-profit and public service organizations specializing in community facilitation and troubleshooting, career development, multicultural counselling and organizational behaviour. Also, I am an Adjunct Assistant Professor in the Department of Educational Psychology and Leadership Studies (Faculty of Education) at the University of Victoria.

What does CCPA mean to me?

CCPA provides a professional network for me to engage with fellow counsellors and psychotherapists from across Canada to discuss and research how our profession can aid individuals and communities in facilitating healthy human change in various dimensions of their lives. The eclectic nature of our work in terms of the range of specializations within the counselling and psychotherapy profession aligns with my principles and values of fostering positive social change and diversity within our multicultural Canadian society.

My previous involvement with CCPA:

Since 2001, I have been a member in good standing with a Canadian Certified Counsellor (CCC) designation with the CCPA.

In 2013/2014, I was the BC/Yukon Regional Director on the CCPA National Board of Directors. As part of my board responsibilities, I was a member of the CCPA Governance Committee, Indigenous Circle Co-Liaison, BC Chapter Board Liaison, Co-Advisor for the Northern Network and member of the Northern Initiative Sub-Committee.

In 2014, I was the President-Elect on the CCPA National Board of Directors which included serving on the CCPA Executive Committee, CCPA Governance Committee and chairing the CCPA Risk Management Committee.

In May 2015, I became the CCPA President for the 2015—2017 term of office.
